ALLEGED GERMAN SPY ARRESTED IN PARIS (KY.)

Suspected of being in the pay of the Imperial German Government at Berlin, and of being a part of the gigantic spy system Germany is endeavoring to maintain in this country, a man giving his name as Geo. Majors, occupation a soldier, was placed under arrest in Paris by Chief of Police Link and taken to the Paris jail.

The man was arrested in Paris two weeks ago by Chief Link on a nominal charge of drunkenness. He was tried and given a sentence of seven and a half days in jail. He told Link that he was a member of a machine gun company at Fort Thomas, Company 22, so he stated. Investigation showed that there was no such company stationed there. Chief Link decided to hold the man on suspicion, and see what could be learned of him. He was put through a course of "sprouts" at the jail, but stuck to his first story all the way through.

Further suspicion was cast upon Majors after United States secret service officers, who had been notified, visited him here and put him through a course of grilling. He told them that he had been associated with a Captain Cutts, of the army, and was receiving his orders through him. Cutts is said to have been touring the country for the past fifteen months in the garb of a captain in the United States infantry.

Majors was taken in charge by Deputy United States Marshall Finnel, of Covington, on the specific charge of impersonating an orderly sergeant in the United States army, and with unlawfully wearing the uniform of a United States soldier. He was taken to Lexington, where he will appear before United States Commissioner Samuel S. Yantis tomorrow morning for a hearing.

The star witness in the case, according to information from the authorities, in a Frankfort woman, to whom Majors is alleged to have written, telling her that he was not a United States soldier, as he had represented himself to her, but that he was a representative of a foreign government. The trial of the suspected spy at Lexington tomorrow will be attended by a special agent of the Department of Justice, who will come from Washington for the purpose.

Majors persisted even in Lexington in denial of the charges that he was a spy and denied most vehemently that he was without authority to wear the uniform of a United States soldier. He also denied that he was the agent of any foreign government. He claims to be a native of Cynthiana, and says that he was in the marine service of the United States from 1908 to 1912.

The night before his removal from the Paris jail to Lexington, Majors made an unsuccessful attempt to escape from the jail. He had pried all the cement from around a large stone in his cell, but a fellow-prisoner who had knowledge of his plans tipped them off to Jailer Jos. Farris. Search of the cell disclosed an iron bar in Majors' bed under the mattress. How it got there no one about the jail was able to tell, but if his plans had not been exposed in time Majors could easily have made his escape.

Papers found on Majors' person at the time of his arrest indicated that he had traveled a great deal in the company of "Captain Cutts," and that he had made at least one trip to Porto Rico, and one across the Atlantic on a ship of the Allies, as an orderly of "Captain Cutts." He wore on his coat a sharpshooters' medal, but it was of a different regiment and had been awarded to a man with a different name.

CHICKEN THIEF ARRESTED

At the request of Chief of Police Link, of Paris, Winchester police arrested John Craycraft in Winchester, charged with stealing twenty-four chickens from Mrs. John Shepherd, of North Middletown.

Chief Link received information that led him to believe the thief was headed for Winchester. It was found that Craycraft had sold the fowls to a Winchester poultry dealer. He was brought to Paris and jailed. Craycraft was presented before Judge McMillan, Saturday morning, and entered a plea of not guilty. He was held over in $500 bond to appear before the grand jury at the next term of the Bourbon Circuit Court.

CARLISLE DEFEATS PARIS BY ONE-SIDED GAME.

Paris and Carlisle baseball teams crossed bats at the old Bluegrass League Park, Sunday afternoon, the Nicholas county delegation defeating the Paris team by a score so badly one-sided that it will hardly bear publication. A scrap between two spectators contributed to the gaiety of the occasion, and took the attention of the spectators temporarily from the exhibition of how-not-to-play ball.

BIDS TOO HIGH ON NEW SCHOOL ADDITION.

At the recent meeting of the City Council bids for the erection of the new additions to the white and colored city schools, provided for by a recent bond issue, were submitted by several prominent contractors.

The bids were discussed and considered as being too high, the lowest bid on the two wings for the white school being about $50,000, and the addition to the colored school about $20,000.

No action was taken in the matter by the Council, and action was deferred until a future meeting, when it will be taken up again. The improvements will probably not be made until the prices of material are lower.

THE FARMER AND THE SCHOOL TAX.

The new tax law enacted by the recent Legislature will govern the assessment to be made the first of September.

Under this law the heaviest burden of taxation will fall on the farm lands of Kentucky. Does the farmer, in addition to this burden, wish still further to increase his taxes? If so, the coming primary will give him the chance. Listen! Each County Superintendent of Schools has the right to have levied and collected 20 cents on each one hundred dollars' worth of property in the county and a poll tax of one dollar and fifty cents for school purposes in addition to all other taxes.

Mark this statement of school taxes in the counties which touch Bourbon:

Fayette, 20 cents.
Scott, 15 cents.
Harrison, 12 1/2 cents and $1.50 poll tax.

Nicholas, 20 cents and $1.00 poll tax.
Montgomery, 20 cents and $1.00 poll tax.

Bath, 20 cents and $1.00 poll tax.
Clark 10 cents. But Clark has three graded schools in the county which assess 35 cents or more.

Bourbon county has 10 cents only, and no poll tax. With this ten cents Miss Robbins, besides extending the school term to eight months, has built 28 new school houses. There are 44 districts, white and colored, in the county. She has steadily opposed any increase of the tax burden, and in another term could have a new house in each remaining district where one is needed without a cent of additional tax.

Mr. Caywood is very enthusiastic about the improved school houses and higher salaried teachers he will install if elected.

There is only one way to carry out his theory, and that is to raise the tax rate to the limit.

Don't imagine he can't do this. If the Fiscal Court refused to make any levy, which the Superintendent asked for, to meet the needs of the schools within the limit allowed by law he could force them to make it by mandamus proceedings in the courts.

If there is any doubt anywhere that Mr. Caywood intends to increase the school tax it can easily be removed by nominating him.

And remember: When the added tax is once levied it will not be reduced later. It is the habit of taxes always to increase and never diminish.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT TO SUCCEED W. H. ANDERSON.

The appointment of Mr. J. H. Morrison, of Birmingham, Ala., to succeed the late Mr. W. H. Anderson as Superintendent of the Kentucky Central division of the Louisville & Nashville was confirmed Saturday by an official announcement to the employees of the division and the headquarters in Paris by General Manager B. M. Starks, in Louisville.

The new superintendent is an experienced railroad man, having been assistant superintendent of the South and North Birmingham Mineral division of the Louisville & Nashville with headquarters in Birmingham. Mr. Morrison is a native of Elizabethtown, Ky., and has been in the Louisville & Nashville service for twenty-five years. He is a man who will become very popular here, it is predicted.

Mr. Morrison arrived in Paris last week and immediately began familiarizing himself with the duties of his new position. He will take charge officially tomorrow. It is thought the office force will remain unchanged, as it is very doubtful if the personnel could be improved for efficiency.

Another appointment announced by General Manager Starks at the same time was that of Mr. W. F. Sheridan, well-known in Paris, to be Superintendent of the Louisville division. Mr. Sheridan was formerly Inspector of Rolling Stock and later Assistant Superintendent of the Louisville division.

THE BIG AUGUST DANCE.

John Stuart, and Ireland "Bit" Davis could not have found a more suggestive title for a dance than the one they have chosen for their next venture, the "Big August Dance." True there will be nothing very august about it save the title, as it will be an occasion of merriment, with nothing smacking of royalty or solemnity to mar the occasion.

Indications are that the attendance will be the largest of any similar occasion this summer, the summer that is now on the wane. Music will be furnished by the Smith Saxophone Orchestra, which will positively fill that date Wednesday, August 1, at the Masonic Temple ballroom, in Paris. The hours will be from nine to three-thirty o'clock.

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT RED CROSS SUPPER.

Following a fight Saturday night at the conclusion of a Red Cross ice cream supper at the Hill School House on the Hawkins & Cummins pike, between Jacksonville and Centerville, Oscar Willoughby was shot and dangerously wounded by a neighbor, Henry Harp.

The crowd was just leaving the school house after the supper, when a disagreement arose between Willoughby and Harp, the nature of which has not been revealed. The two men came out in the school yard, when the quarrel which started in the building, was resumed. Harp drew a revolver and fired two shots, one taking effect in Willoughby's neck. Harp made his escape, and is still at large, despite a vigorous search being made for him by the Fayette and Bourbon county officials.

Willoughby was removed to his home near Old Union, and was later brought to the Massie Memorial Hospital, in Paris, where he lies in a critical condition.

Sheriff Talbot, Deputies McClintock and Marshall, with a posse, went to the scene of the shooting immediately on receipt of a telephone message and made a search for the shooter, who was said to be in hiding at the home of his brother, near Old Union, but returned unable to locate him. The Fayette and Bourbon officials were still searching yesterday for Harp, but to no avail.

PARIS MERCHANTS TO CO-OPERATE IN WAR MOVEMENT.

Paris merchants are preparing to co-operate with the War Advisory Council in the movement to conserve the National resources during the war with Germany.

One source of great waste, the Advisory Council states, is the practice of requesting the retail merchants to make unnecessary deliveries of small articles and to send goods out on approval, thus requiring two trips of the delivery vehicle.

This is wasteful in two ways—it consumes in the aggregate an enormous quantity of fuel, and increases the demand for labor which might be more profitably employed in other ways.

The War Council makes a patriotic appeal to the women of the land to carry their small bundles home, to make certain that they really want articles before leaving the store, and whenever possible, when leaving home, to carry with them small articles which are to be returned to the merchant.

Every dollar saved in this way by the nation at large will make it stronger in money and means to support the armies in the field and care for the wounded in the hospital, it is asserted by the prominent men concerned in this conservation plan.

POPULAR MINISTER PREACHES FAREWELL SERMON.

Rev. Dr. O. R. Mangum, for the past four years the able and popular pastor of the Paris Baptist church, who recently accepted a call to the pastorate of the Baptist church at Henderson, Ky., preached his farewell sermon at the Union services held in the Christian church Sunday night, to an audience that filled the big structure. Mr. Mangum took for his subject, "God's Tomorrow, or, Watchman, What of the Night?"

During his pastorate of the Paris church Dr. Mangum made a host of friends who will regret to see him leave Paris. He will leave for Henderson this week to assume his charge. Under his direction the membership of the Paris church has increased by 272 additions, making a total of 492. He has done a great work in many other ways for the church, and the congregation will feel his loss very acutely. It is not yet known who his successor will be.

THE COUNTY FAIR.

The Third and Fourth Divisions of the Bible Class of the North Middletown Christian Church will hold an old-time county fair, with all the trimmings and frills of the real article, in the church yard at North Middletown, on next Friday night, August 3, beginning promptly at 7:30 o'clock. There will be side shows of various kinds with attractions of guaranteed excellence, red lemonade, peanuts and all the things that used to make life enjoyable at the old county fair in the back days.

Many novel attractions and amusements have been arranged by the committee in charge, and everyone who attends will be sure to get their money's worth. The public is cordially invited.

REAL ESTATE DEAL.

Through the real estate agency of G. R. Snapp, at Carlisle, Mr. W. E. Hill, of Nicholas county, purchased last week of Mr. John Prather, of Carlisle, the latter's farm of 106 acres located in Bourbon county, near the Bourbon-Nicholas line for about $135 per acre.

NEGRO SHOTS UP CAR ON INTERURBAN LINE.

When Jack Webster, a Paris negro, was put off the 11:15 Paris-Lexington interurban car at Nineteenth street, in this city yesterday for not paying his fare, it made him mad, and Conductor B. Anderson, of Lexington, became the object of his wrath.

Webster got on the car at Twentieth street, and upon being asked for his fare when Nineteenth street was reached, refused to pay. He was promptly ejected by the conductor. Webster, in revenge, produced his revolver from somewhere in the region of where such things are usually carried and proceeded to fire three shots through the car. One shot went through the vestibule, one into the rear end of the car, and one through a window. Anderson leaped from his car and grabbed the shooter, holding him until Paris was reached, when he escorted him to the Paris jail. One shot, it was stated, barely grazed Anderson's collar.

Webster was charged with malicious shooting, with firing into a railway car and with carrying concealed weapons. It was a wonder that the occupants of the car escaped injury by the flying missiles.

BRIEF NOTES FROM THE PAGES OF WAR.

Unless the government speedily procures sufficient troop transports the United States six months hence will have an army of 1,200,000 men "all dressed up but no place to go."

A German submarine was destroyed off the French coast west of Calais. The undersea boat went ashore and the crew, unable to free her, opened the gasoline tanks and set fire to the vessel.

For the second time two hostile submarines have battled to a decision. The British boat was sunk by a shell from its German adversary and all but one of the crew were drowned. The survivor was made a prisoner. The battle occurred in the North Sea.

Generals R. M. Blachford and John Biddle, of the American army, with their staffs, have arrived in England.

PERSONNEL OF BARROW HOSPITAL UNIT COMPLETE.

The personnel of the staff of physicians and dentists which will be in charge of the medical work of Base Hospital No. 40, now being organized for service in France, has been announced by Dr. David Barrow, organizer and director of the unit. Exactly half of the staff will be Lexington physicians. Louisville is represented by four. All of them are practicing physicians or surgeons except Drs. Grant and Lileston, both of Louisville, who will compose the dental staff, and Drs. W. S. Stephenson and Carl Rinder, of Deer Lodge, Mont., who will have charge of the laboratory work.

There will be sixty-five nurses to accompany this unit, fifty of whom have already been selected. They are chiefly nurses from Lexington hospitals, with a few coming from Paris and Louisville, and the surrounding cities.

The hospital corps, consisting of litter bearers, ambulance drivers, orderlies, etc., will include 153 men, and 200 applications have already been received for that service.

SOME SNAKE STORY FROM MT. AIRY AVENUE.

While taking his ease in the yard at his home on Mt. Airy Avenue, Sunday afternoon, Mr. Alex Rice, Sr., was attracted by a commotion among the birds in a big tree under which he was sitting. Thinking it was merely a disturbance caused by some unwelcome bird invading the feathered social circle, Mr. Rice paid very little attention to it for a while.

The disturbance continued and increasing in volume and intensity Mr. Rice concluded to investigate. Upon climbing the tree he found a large house snake wrapped around one of the limbs, endeavoring to get within striking distance of the birds. Mr. Rice beat a hasty retreat and going to the house secured his revolver.

He fired four shots at the snake from the ground, a distance of probably twenty-five feet. Three shots took effect in his snakeship. Mr. Rice secured the reptile, and exhibited it to his neighbors as a sample of his marksmanship. The reptile menace removed the birds resumed their Sunday afternoon siesta, and peace and quiet again reigned over the vicinity. The snake measured over four and one-half feet in length.

Claiming Exemption.

It seems now quite safe to say that the man who has been predicting that a majority of the Bourbon county boys who were drawn for army service some days ago are going to claim exemption is in for a surprise. Already there is every indication that insofar as Paris and Bourbon county are concerned, there is going to be a surprisingly small number of shirkers.

Naturally the Paris man or the Bourbon county man, whether he comes from "The Dark Corner" or from the classic precincts of cultured Millersburg, who is not physically fit, is not going to push his claims for a place in the ranks. He realizes, as all of us have learned since the American troops returned from Cuba, that, to do army service in a climate entirely foreign to our own, one must be not alone physically fit but almost physically perfect.

The number of married men who are going to waive the exemption clause will also be surprisingly small. In many instances it will be found that the drafted man is married to a loyal, courageous woman who is also sensible, and she does not want her husband to use her as an excuse for not giving to his country the service he owes it. Before the final name is marked, "Held for Service," and Bourbon county's quota is complete, you're going to find that the American man is not wholly given to dollar-making, as our enemy across the sea claims. You're going to find that there isn't the tiniest streak of yellow in his makeup. You're going to be proud of the boys in Bourbon county. You're going to realize as never before that they have in them true courage, real manhood and a love of country as great as you can claim for yourself.

There are going to be many claims for exemption, of course, and Sheriff Talbott, Clerk Paton and Dr. Evans are going to have some trying times. But if every man drafted should be permitted to go to the front it would be the most physically unfit army any nation ever put in the field. That is the prime object of the selective draft—to get the men best fitted and best able to serve their country. The surprise is coming when you see how many Bourbon county and Paris boys are going to complain because they can't get into the army, not because they have to go.

Uncle Sam needs cooks. We could point out a number of Paris married men in need of the same thing, only there's enough trouble in this old world the way it is.

Peace And The Children.

Gaze on the children at play about the streets of Paris and upon the lawns of the homes in this city and ask yourself what is to be the result upon them of the influences growing out of this war.

There are fathers and mothers in Paris who fear that the work of the past quarter of a century in behalf of peace and good-will is to be undone by the revival of the war spirit. Naturally the heart of the average boy responds readily to the sights and sounds connected with the pageantry of war. Even now we see the little lads marching up and down the court house lawn with life and drums and wooden swords and guns. But we cannot lead ourselves to believe that a righteous war is going to have a bad influence upon them in after years, nor instill a militaristic spirit in them.

We prefer to believe with the poet that "the tumult and the shouting dies, the captains and the kings depart," and the excitement and enthusiasm now strong in the breasts of our boys will depart with the restoration of peace to the world. It is for the children of Paris, the men and women of to-morrow, that we hope for peace. For with it will be born a love of peace so strong that never in their lives will they find it necessary to pass through what their fathers and elder brothers are today called upon to face.

It is a consolation for us here in the good old Bluegrass region, those of us who have passed the age limit, to know that in these sad days we are going through the last great armed struggle the world shall ever know. It is worth a great deal to feel that when the hour of peace arrives—as it surely must—when the days return of a great friendship between the nations of the earth, the reaction will carry us back—children, youth and men alike—to a love for peace greater than humanity has ever known before.

Statistics show that there are 6,500,000 automobiles in the United States. THE NEWS man standing at the corner of Main and Eighth streets a few days ago waiting for a chance to get across to the opposite corner, was willing to swear that every blessed one of them passed along that particular spot just at that particular time.

WATER SUPPLY AND TYPHOID

Dr. W. A. Evans, former Health Commissioner of Chicago, says in the Chicago Tribune that the residents of cities supplied with purified water and pasteurized milk are in practically no danger from typhoid so long as they stay at home. When they go into the country, and particularly when they go for their vacations, they are in danger.

It is a fact that by reason of improved water supply the cities now are more healthful, from a typhoid fever standpoint than the country. The process of filtering water, with frequent inspection and analysis, is a safeguard against typhoid or other deadly germs and the improvement of city water invariably is accompanied by decline in the typhoid fever record. The city of Louisville once had a very heavy typhoid death rate. With the completion and perfection of the magnificent filtering plant typhoid fever almost has disappeared from the mortality lists and what is there is brought from the country or is contracted mostly through the use of impure water from wells and springs, many of which still are in public use in outlying districts of the city.

Whenever there is an unusual number of typhoid fever cases in any given locality the people of that community should look carefully to the source of the disease. Usually it will be found in an impure water supply. —Frankfort State Journal.

STRANGE OCCURRENCE.

(Harrodsburg Herald.)

A very strange occurrence took place at the home of James Yeast near Cornishville, this week. On Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock Mr. Yeast was in the barn lot with four cows and was milking one of them when suddenly, without warning, all four of the cows fell to the ground at the same instant. Mr. Yeast stood in amazement for several minutes looking at the prostrate animals which did not move. He had felt no shock or anything out of the ordinary that could have affected the cows. After a few moments the four animals got up as if nothing had happened and Mr. Yeast finished his milking. The sky was clear and there was no sign of storm or electricity in the air. Mr. Yeast is very much puzzled and would like for someone to explain the occurrence.

GEN. KITCHNER'S SISTER BELIEVES HIM YET ALIVE.

The statement by Mrs. Parker, sister of Lord Kitchener, that she believed her brother to be alive and did not go down with the cruiser Hampshire has revived a rumor which has recurred in England during the year past. Asked by an interviewer on what grounds she based her belief, Mrs. Parker replied: "I can not tell you on what grounds. I believe it—in fact, I do not want to go into any details whatever."

The original rumor was that a letter had been received from a British prisoner in Germany saying that Lord Kitchener was there.

EDITOR DULEY TELLS 'BIGGEST FISH STORY.'

(Flemingsburg Times-Democrat.)
On Thursday morning last, at Park Lake, W. P. Ross, of Carlisle, who with his family is spending his vacation with Thos. S. Andrews and wife, took out of the lake a small-mouth black bass weighing 7½ pounds. It was caught on a set-pole, one hook being fastened in its mouth while another hook on the same line was caught in its tail, it having done the second hooking in its violent efforts to escape. So far as we know, this breaks the record for weight on a small-mouth bass. Quite a number of reliable gentlemen saw this fish weighed, so there seems to be no doubt of the accuracy of the weighing. While we did not see the fish personally, yet we saw its head, and it bore out the report of the scales. This puts Park Lake in the lead of any of the great fishing resorts of Michigan, since none of them have such a record. We also tender this to the Maysville Independent as No. 2 of the series of fish stories, and assure it of the truth of the same.

ARE YOU ONE OF THEM?

There are a great many people who would be very much benefited by taking Chamberlain's Tablets for a weak and disordered stomach. Are you one of them? Mrs. M. R. Searl, Baldwinsville, N. Y., relates her experience in the use of these tablets: "I had a bad spell with my stomach about six months ago, and was troubled for two or three weeks with gas and severe pains in the pit of my stomach. Our druggist advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. I took a bottle home and the first dose relieved me wonderfully, and I kept on taking them until I was cured." These tablets do not relieve pain, but after the pain has been relieved may prevent its recurrence. (adv-July)

CARLSBAD SPRINGS HOTEL IS REOPENED.

The Carlsbad Hotel, at Dry Ridge, a very popular resort with Paris people, reopened Saturday after having been closed several days pending the appointment of a receiver. Mr. Kelly, of Georgetown, is the receiver appointed by Judge Cochran, of the U. S. District court. The hotel will be conducted the same as before with regard to rates, etc., and the house is filling up again and it is hoped to have it full to capacity in a few days.

COMBINATION RACK AND TIRE HOLDER FOR CARS.

A new motor-car attachment having many uses is a combination tire holder and rack on which baggage, milk cans, sacked grain, etc., can be carried. It consists of a steel frame that is attached by two arms to the rear of the chassis and by two adjustable braces to the members that support the car's top at the rear. The tire holders are situated on the under side of the rack, and when the latter is not in use the entire attachment folds up against the body, bringing the tires into an almost vertical position. The article is described and illustrated in the August Popular Mechanics Magazine.

ASSESSORS WILL HAVE TO WORK HARD NOW.

When the Bourbon county Assessors start out on their next rounds they will find hard work and plenty of it ahead of them. The new schedules on which the County Assessments will have to be made out under the new tax law, will be received here soon. Compared with those used under the old law the new schedules are a miracle of complexity and system. It will take "forever and a day" to get the work up.

Under the old law the men who visited the men of the country to learn whether they had great possessions, would bear a single slip of paper, on which were about one hundred questions. The new schedule is made up of two separate booklets, one for tangible, and one for intangible property. In the new schedules about one thousand questions are to be asked of the property-owners.

Under the old law, the assessor went to a property-owner, and asked how much livestock he had. The assessor, under the new law, must find out how many chickens, how many turkeys, etc. On September 1 the vast work which the new law places upon the assessor, will begin. Instructions from the Attorney-General's office explaining just how each step shall be taken, are expected soon by the local assessor's office.

BOURBON'S CROP CONDITIONS.

Rains occurring generally over the county last week, came when most needed and just in time to benefit the crops.

Corn and tobacco, now well cultivated, have been put in good condition, although both crops are somewhat late.

Gardens are now yielding their products in large quantities, and the market is flooded with home-grown vegetables.

Potatoes are good and the yield is quite excellent, considering the fact that the seed potatoes were not of the best quality. Blackberries have been on the local market for some time, but the supply is short and the demand large, prices being almost prohibitive, save those able to pay the price. Grapes are very promising and fruit is generally in good condition.

Wheat threshing was resumed last week, after numerous interruptions on account of rains. The prospects are very bright for a bumper corn crop and it would take a very serious drought to cut down the estimated yield. The hemp and tobacco crops are both in excellent condition.

We know you will want to take advantage of this special sale of

SOME BLACKBERRIES.

An L. & N. man, whose duties carry him several times a week pretty far up the Lexington & Eastern division of the Louisville & Nashville told a NEWS representative the other night that the whole State of Kentucky could be supplied with blackberries from the immense patches between Indian Fields and Maloney.

"Why, let me tell you this," he said, "There is one patch I know of along that road that is not one inch less than three miles long (and my business is to estimate miles) and the Lord knows how far back it runs. The natives won't pick the berries, or can't pick them fast enough to get them to market. They would sell about forty cents per bucket if they could get them to the Paris market. But those people won't fool with them because they haven't the facilities for handling them."

"Just think of it, man! Thousands of bushels of the most delicious berries in the world absolutely going to waste. Isn't it a shame that such a delicious fruit as the blackberry should be allowed to go unused that way? But there is no remedy unless somebody puts some idle capital to work up there. He could reap a harvest."

"These berries are finer and of a more delicious flavor than the cultivated berry. I dropped off the train one day on one of my trips near a small station close to this immense patch, and made a personal examination. Those bushes seemed almost impenetrable, but I managed to get far enough in to see. The berries hung in big clusters like grapes. I give you my word of honor if I'd had help enough I could have loaded a two-horse wagon with the finest berries in the world in thirty minutes time. That's no exaggeration."

BABE SMOTHERED TO DEATH.

The infant child of George Harris, colored, was found dead in bed by its parents Sunday morning at their home in Ruckerville, a colored suburb of Paris.

Harris, his wife, their four-year-old child and the baby occupied the same bed. About three o'clock Sunday morning the mother nursed the baby, and when they awoke about six o'clock the older child was lying across the baby, which had died during the morning.

The baby's tongue had been bitten in two, having been pierced by several teeth.

Coroner Rudolph Davis was called and after investigating the case, pronounced death due to suffocation.

PLAYING "VODEVIL."

The latest aspirant for "vodevil" honors among the ranks of Kentuckians is Mr. Cecil Noe, a former member of the Gregg Orchestra, which filled several engagements at the Alamo Theatre and Grand Opera House, in Paris sometime ago.

Mr. Noe, who has been spending the summer vacation traveling with the Sells-Floto Circus in the North as leader of the band, has joined the Archie Nicholson trio, now playing on the Keith Circuit, and will appear with them during the season. Mr. Noe has been a frequent visitor in Paris as a guest of Sello and Harold Wollstein.

"LOST" NET RECOVERED.

The big fish net captured during a raid on Kentucky River poachers by Deputy State Game Warden Bush Bishop, sometime ago, and which mysteriously disappeared one night from the court house yard, where it had been placed on exhibition, has been found.

The net, which was about twenty-two feet in length, had been stored in the basement of the court house by practical jokers, and its presence was not known until Saturday, when in cleaning up a dark corner, it was found in the basement. Mr. Bishop shipped the net to Frankfort yesterday.

BOOTLEGGER ARRESTED.

In Judge January's court yesterday Mary Timmons, colored, was assessed $50 and costs and given a jail sentence of ten days on charges of "bootlegging" and having liquor in her possession for purpose of sale in local option territory.

The arrest was made by Patrolman George W. Judy, whose suspicions were aroused by the actions of the Timmons woman. Patrolman Judy has made an especially vigilant officer in the suppression of illegal liquor trade, and it is a hard matter for an offender to escape his eagle eye.

NO TIDINGS FROM DRAFTING MASTERLIST.

Up to the hour of going to press last night no tidings had been received by the members of the Bourbon County Board of Exemption, of the masterlist which is to decide the number of those who are to go from Bourbon county to the army service in the draft recently made. Because of the fact that the lists were sent from Washington through the State officials there has been considerable delay in their delivery. They are expected at almost any time.

Until they are received the Board can accomplish nothing. When they are received the time of the Board will be occupied in going over them and suiting them to the first 278 numbers the names of the men which correspond. As soon thereafter as practicable the official notices for the first lot of men will be placed in the mail. It will then take some time for the notices to be delivered and for the men to answer. However, this will be officially announced later. The Board, composed of Sheriff W. F. Talbott, County Clerk Pearce Paton and Dr. Silas Evans, is all ready for the work, and each one thoroughly understands what is expected of him.

POPULAR CANDIDATE OUT OF SENATORIAL RACE.

Friends in Paris and the county of Mr. Lee Wainscott, of Winchester, will be surprised to learn of his withdrawal from the race for Senator from the district composed of Clark, Bourbon and Montgomery counties. Mr. Wainscott's decision will be a matter of deep regret to his supporters in this county, as they had determined to do their bit in landing him in the Senatorial seat in the upper house of the Kentucky Legislature.

Mr. Wainscott gave no reasons to the press for his withdrawal from the race, but it is presumed they are satisfactory to himself. He is personally popular with the Bourbon county people.

Saturday morning, Mr. H. C. Gillispie, of Winchester, wired Secretary of State James P. Lewis to strike his name from the ballot as a candidate for State Senator in the same district.

With the withdrawal of Mr. Wainscott, this leaves the race for the nomination between Hon. Abram Renick and Mr. George Hon, both Clark county men.

TO CAMP DANIEL BOONE.

Under the auspices of the State Young Women's Christian Association, twelve young women, representing the Paris Chapter of the Girls' Honor Guard, left yesterday for Camp Daniel Boone, the Y. M. C. A. Camp on the Kentucky River, near Valley View. They will remain two weeks.

The trip was arranged especially for the members of the Girls' Honor Guard, the Paris delegation being in charge of Misses Helen Hutchcraft and Miss Edith Stivers, both experienced Y. W. C. A. work.

The girls will use the camp in conjunction with others from surrounding towns, and will spend the time in such camp pursuits and frolics as swimming, rowing, camp-fire parties, nature studies, basket-ball, tennis, etc. Regular camp discipline will be maintained at all times. The Paris delegation is composed of Misses Harriet Rogers, Valette McClintock, Nancy Barbee Wilson, Nancy Griffith, Josephine Fithian, Mary Louise Collier, Mamie Lee Baldwin, Elizabeth Sommerville, of Birmingham, Alabama; Sara Dedman, of Cynthia; Mary Louise Vandenberg, of Cynthia; Miss Helen Hutchcraft and Miss Edith Stivers, leaders, of Paris.

DR. BEN FRANK TO SEE EUROPEAN SERVICE.

Dr. Ben Frank, former Parisian, who has been a resident of New York several years, will see service in France with the Nineteenth New York Regiment. The New York Herald of July 26, says:

"The Nineteenth has two recruits pointed out to the visitors in its company room. One is Matthew Ishkaha, said to be a full blooded Sioux Indian from out West, but long a resident of New York. The other is a physician, Dr. Benjamin Frank, who is not going along as anything more than a private."

SILENT ALARM CLOCK.

"The alarm clock as a social problem" might be the thesis of the inventor who has devised a new form of this indispensable but unpopular instrument. Realizing that the prolonged peal of a lusty bell at 5 a. m. may cause considerable inconvenience to next-door neighbors in apartment houses and dormitories, he has devised a silent alarm which awakens the sleeper by a strong light instead of a loud noise. When the clock reaches the moment set on the dial, instead of releasing the spring of a bell, it throws in the switch of an electric bell's-eye lantern, so directed that it floods the pillow with its glare. It is claimed that this method is as effective as the bell in awakening the sleeper in question, and less effective in awakening neighbors and room-mates.

WHITE HOUSE GUARD'S SON FIRST IN NEW ARMY.

Harry Chapman Gilbert, of Washington, D. C., 21 years old, son of a White House police guard, is the first man in the country to be accepted for service in the national army, having passed his physical test and waived all claims for exemption. Gilbert last summer joined a Canadian regiment, the Two Hundred and Third Winnipeg Rifles, and was aboard a transport ready to sail when his parents intervened and had the State Department secure his release on the ground that he was not of age.

PETER VINEGAR WEATHER

Peter Vinegar, the eccentric negro preacher, described the terrors of Hades under the unique title of "A Damn Hot Day." If Peter's shade could have visited Paris Sunday and yesterday he could have found abundant reason for adding another chapter to his famous sermon.

The mercury rose rapidly Saturday and Sunday until it had reached the high mark of 96 degrees in the shade. A breeze part of the day relieved suffering humanity to some extent, but in the late afternoon and night the heat fiends renewed their efforts. Yesterday was a repetition of the day before, the mercury ascending to a high mark.

The sultry weather Sunday drove hundreds to seek the cooling waters of the Kentucky River at Boonesboro. A large number from Paris made the trip. A party of Paris girls, chaperoned by their elderly friends, visited Stoner creek in the vicinity of the Maysville railroad bridge Sunday afternoon, where they found solace and relief from the heat in swimming and boating.

SERGT. MCCLINTOCK'S STORY.

The fourth installment of Sergt. Alex McClintock's story of European battle, "Over There," entitled "Shifted to The Somme," appear on page seven of this issue of THE NEWS. This is proving a wonderfully interesting story, and a very popular one with readers of THE NEWS. The next installment is entitled, "Wounded in Action." This article describes the terrible fight, the dead and dying, the loss of a pal and the final finding of McClintock in "No Man's Land." Simply told, it is one of the most remarkable stories of a battle by a participant ever put together.

BAKERS WANTED.

The Quartermaster General has been directed to organize at once forty bakery companies in addition to the ten companies now within the continental limits of the United States.

CO-OPERATION IN EFFORT TO REDUCE FIRE WASTE.

In co-operation with the State Fire Marshal's Department and the State Council of National Defense, efforts are being made by the members of the Conservation Association of Kentucky of the National Board of Fire Underwriters to reduce the possibility of fire waste to a minimum.

The Conservation Association, which is composed of the field men representing the fire insurance companies operating in the State, tendered its services to the National Government with a view to bring about improvement in plants used for manufacturing and storing of food supplies and such other resources as are necessary to the successful prosecution of the war against Germany. This service was welcomed by the Government and while Congress was still debating methods of food control and conservation the Kentucky Conservation Association was busy carrying out practical war time measures for the protection of food stuffs and other supplies from destruction by fire. The work is in line with the appeal of Herbert C. Hoover, who has adopted, "Food Will Win the War" as his motto in his efforts to awaken the people to the necessity of conservation. The inspection service rendered by the Kentucky Association will be thorough. The field men have been assigned to different parts of the State where all mills, elevators, groceries, warehouses, lumber yards, saw mills, etc., will be placed under inspection. Improvements designed to safeguard these properties will be suggested.

The co-operation of the property owners is earnestly desired, as it is felt that only through co-operation can the object sought be attained. All of the field men have credentials as Inspectors of the State Fire Marshal's Department. They have been selected for the work because of their practical training and experience. Their service is one to the country and to the people.

While the work will be done by insurance men, it will have no connection with the insurance business, the companies represented giving their time and part of their expenses as their bit in the food conservation campaign.

HIS FALL NOT UNCHECKED.

Two insurance agents—a Yankee and an Englishman—were bragging about their rival methods, says the Literary Digest. The Britisher was holding forth on the system of prompt payment carried out by his people—no trouble, no fuss, no attempt to wriggle out of settlement.

"If the man died to-night," he continued, "his widow would receive her money by the first post to-morrow morning."

"You don't say?" drawled the Yankee. "See here, now, you talk of prompt payment. Well, our office is on the third floor of a building forty-nine stories high. One of our clients lived in the forty-ninth story, and he fell out of the window. We handed him his check as he passed."

OFFICIAL NOTICE TO RETAIL SEED DEALERS.

The Kentucky Pure Seed Law went into effect September 23, 1916, yet it was found when seeds were placed on the market in the spring of 1917 some retail dealers were ignorant of its requirements and had made no provision for labeling the stock they were selling. In order that there will be no ground for excuses of this sort the coming fall this notice is being sent out in correspondence of the Station and in circulars and newspapers, in the hope that when our inspectors make their rounds they may not find any one who through ignorance of the law has stock in his hands that will subject him to prosecution.

The law requires that all field seeds, such as timothy, clover, wheat, corn and hemp shall be labeled with (1) the approximate percentage of purity and (2) the approximate percentage of germination. Failure to so label seeds renders the seller liable to a fine of from $25.00 to $100 for each offense. Kentucky wholesale dealers in seeds are now familiar with the requirements of the law and in most cases are prepared to test their seeds and label them, but retail dealers cannot always afford to maintain testing laboratories and must depend on the wholesalers for the percentages required on the labels.

The main purpose of this notice is, therefore, to urge Kentucky retailers when placing their orders for the fall trade to notify those from whom they buy that the law requires purity and germination percentages on all labels, and to insist that these be furnished on the seeds they buy. Tags with headings for the percentages should be printed by the retail dealer before the selling time arrives. The best wholesalers inside and outside the State are able to furnish the figures needed; if any are unwilling to do so, retailers should buy of some one else. When information is needed as to wholesalers who are complying with the Kentucky law we shall be pleased to furnish it.

Circular No. 5 of the Department of Entomology and Botany contains the law, complete, with some further details as to labeling. It can be secured free by applying to the Station.

Head of Department.

COLLIE DOG DEVELOPS SENSE OF REASONING.

A collie kept at the sheep barns at the Ohio Experiment Station seems to have developed the sense of reasoning power. A number of sheep were being driven down a long, narrow alley from the shearing pens. When about halfway down, some of the sheep faced around thus blocking the entire passage. The dog watched their movements with some restlessness, he being in the rear of the bunch. This lasted for a few seconds and then without command from the man in charge of the sheep, he leaped over the few sheep near him and passing over the backs of a number, he soon reached the front and had caused the head sheep to turn about and go ahead, allowing the whole bunch to rapidly pass out of the alley.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by constitutional remedy. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

We control 5,000 acres of leases in the proven oil fields of Kentucky. We are going to start drilling operations in the near future. You are invited to participate in the profits by subscribing for shares in the company.

Now Selling at 20 Cents a Share

This stock has increased 100 per cent. in value in the past 30 days because the value of our leases have increased. The shares will soon be selling at 50 cents each. Every share of stock issued represents value, not water.

Your Opportunity

It is said that every man has his opportunity. We believe this is true. The late John W. Gates had his opportunity when he bought stock early in the Texas Oil Company. He grasped the opportunity and it is said the stock held by the Gates estate in Texas oil companies increased in value to $8,000,000 within one year.

To-day it is estimated that $5,000 originally invested in the Farmers Oil Company has become worth $1,500,000.

The management of the Bourbon Oil and Development Company, of Paris, Kentucky, believes there is just as great an opportunity to make money to-day in the oil business as there was when the two companies mentioned above were organized. You have an opportunity to buy shares of the Bourbon Oil and Development Company before the price is out of your reach. After the business is established and earning dividends there is very little opportunity for the small investor. He must get in early to realize the large returns. Delay pays no dividends.

Buy Bourbon Oil and Development Company shares NOW while the price is low. Buy before another advance takes place. Invest as successful men invest—at the low price. Write us or come in and talk it over.

The Danville Messenger touches thusly on a subject that has been the cause of a great deal of comment:

"It's all right to stand during the rendition of the Star-Spangled Banner on proper occasions, but to be hopping up at picture shows and other insignificant gatherings is quite monotonous. And now that it is becoming the fad to stand when America, Yankee Doodle or other music with a national touch is played, it is quite a nuisance. Why not make it unanimous and stand during all the music—'Turkey in the Straw,' 'Sugar in Gourd,' 'Leather Britches,'—in fact all these classics should be properly remembered and honored by arising no matter how hard a day's work you have done."

SERGEANT MCCLINTOCK.

"OVER THERE"

The Thrill and the Hell of the Trenches, Described by an American Boy.

Sergeant Alexander McClintock of Lexington, Ky., and the Canadian Army Has Greeting Tale That Every American Will Read, For He Tells the Facts—Unadorned. Wounded, a Distinguished Conduct Medal Man, He Was Invalided Home, but Is Going "Out There" Again to Fight For Uncle Sam and His Allies. An Inspiring, Interesting, Personal Narrative, Full of the Spirit and Atmosphere of the Trenches.

No. 4. Shifted to the Somme

By Sergeant Alexander McClintock, D. C. M., 87th Overseas Batt., Canadian Gren. Guards.

Copyright, 1917, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.

Sergeant McClintock is an American boy of Lexington, Ky., who has seen service in France, was decorated for bravery, wounded, invalided home and now is returning to accept a commission. This is the fourth article in the series. In the first article he told of his training up to the point where he reached the front line trenches. In the second he outlined the elaborate preparations for a bomb raid, and in the third the disastrous raid was described.

A FEW days after the bombing raid, which ended so disastrously for us, our battalion was relieved from duty on the front line, and the tip we got was that we were to go down to the big show then taking place on the Somme. Our relief was a division of Australians. You see, the sector which we had held in Belgium was a sort of preparatory school for the regular fighting over in France.

It wasn't long before we got into what you might call the big league contest, but in the meanwhile we had a little rest from battling Fritz and the opportunity to observe some things which seem to me to be worth telling about. Those of you who are exclusively fond of the stirring detail of war, such as shooting and being shot at and bombing and bayoneting, need only skip a little of this. We had an entirely satisfactory amount of smoke and excitement later.

As soon as our relief battalion had got in we moved back to Poperinghe for a couple of days' rest. We were a pretty contented and jovial lot, our platoon especially. We were all glad to get away from the strain of holding a front trench, and there were other advantages. For instance, the alterations of our muster due to casualties had not come through battalion headquarters, and therefore we had in our platoon sixty-three rum rations night and morning and only sixteen men.

It Was Good Clean Fighting. Nobody Fired a Shot.

There was a Canadian Scot in our crowd who said that the only word which described the situation was "g-r-r-a-n-d!"

There was a good deal of jealousy at that time between the Canadians and the Australians. Each had the same force in the field—four divisions. Either force was bigger than any other army composed exclusively of volunteers ever before assembled. While I belong to the Canadian army and believe the Canadian overseas forces the finest troops ever led to war, I must say that I have never seen a body of men so magnificent in average physique as the Australians. And some of them were even above the high average. The man that punched me in the eye in an "estamina" in Poperinghe made up entirely in his own person for the absence of Les Darcy from the Australian ranks. I don't know just how the fight started between the Australians and us in Poperinghe, but I know that it took three regiments of Imperial troops to stop it. The most convincing story I heard of the origin of the battle was told me by one of our men, who said he was there when it began. He said one of the Australians had carelessly remarked that the British generals had decided it was time to get through with the sideshow in Belgium, and this was the reason why they had sent regular troops like the Australians in to relieve the Canadians. Then some sensitive Canadian wished the Australians luck and hoped they'd finish it up as well as they had the affair in the Dardanelles. After that our two days' rest was made up principally of beating it out of estaminas when strategic requirements suggested a new base or beating it into estaminas when it looked as if we could act as efficient re-enforcements. That fight never stopped for forty-eight hours, and the only places it didn't include were the church and the hospitals. I'll bet to this day that the Belgians who run the estaminas in Poperinghe will duck behind the bars if you just mention Canada and Australia in the same breath.

But I'm bound to say that it was good, clean fighting. Nobody fired a shot, nobody pulled a bayonet, and nobody got the wrong idea about anything. The Australian heavyweight champion who landed on me went right out in the street and saluted one of our lieutenants. We had just one satisfying reflection after the fight was over—the Australian battalion that relieved us felt heir to the counterattack which the Germans sent across to even up on our bombing raid.

Down to the Somme.

We began our march to the Somme by a hike to St. Omer, the first British headquarters in Europe. Then we stopped for a week about twenty miles from Calais, where we underwent a course of intensified training for open fighting. The infantry tactics, in which we were drilled, were very similar to those of the United States army, those which, in fact, were originated by the United States troops in the days of Indian fighting. We covered most of the ground around Calais on our stomachs in open order. While it may seem impertinent for me, a mere non-com, to express an opinion about the larger affairs of the campaign, I think I may be excused for saying that the war didn't at all take the course which was expected and hoped for after the fight on the Somme. Undoubtedly the allies expected to break through the German line. That is well known now. While we were being trained near Calais for open warfare a very large force of cavalry was being assembled and prepared for the same purpose. It was never used.

That was last August, and the allies haven't broken through yet. Eventually I believe they will break through, but in my opinion men who are drawn for service in the first half million of our new American army will be veterans in Europe before the big break comes which will wreck the Prussian hope of success in this war. And if we of the U. S. A. don't throw in the weight to beat the Prussians now they will not be beaten, and in that case the day will not be very far distant when we will have to beat them to save our homes and our nation. War is a dreadful and inglorious and ill smelling and cruel thing. But if we hold back now we will be in the logical position of a man hesitating to go to grips with a drunken, savage, shrieking, spewing maniac who has all but whipped his proper keepers and is going after the onlooker. However, I wish we had had two months more of weather on the Somme. There might have been a different story to tell.

Simplified Medicine.

We got drafts of recruits before we went to the Somme, and some of our wounded men were sent back to England, where we had left our "safety first battalion." That was really the Fifty-first battalion of the Fourth division of the Canadian forces, composed of the physically rejected, men recovering from wounds and men injured in training. The Tommies, however, called it the "safety first" or "Major Gilday's Light Infantry." Major Gilday was our battalion surgeon. He was immensely popular, and he achieved a great name for himself. He made one realize what a great personal force a doctor can be and what an unnecessary elaboration there is in the civil practice of medicine.

Under Major Gilday's administration no man in our battalion was sick if he could walk, and if he couldn't walk there was a reasonable suspicion that he was drunk. The major simplified medicine down to an exact science of two forms of treatment and two remedies—"number nines" and whale oil. "Number nines" were pale oval pills, which, if they had been eggs, would have run about eight to an omelet for six persons. They had an internal effect which could only be defined as dynamic. After our men had become acquainted with them through personal experience they stopped calling them "number nines" and called them "whiz-bangs." There were only two possibilities of error under Major Gilday's system of simplified medicine. One was to take a whiz-bang for trench feet and the other to use whale oil externally for some form of digestive hesitancy. And in either case no permanent harm could result, while the error was as simple of correction as the command "about face." Blighty was therefore not very popular with our battalion, blighty being the trench name for the hospital.

Two weeks and a half after we left Belgium we arrived at Albert, having marched all the way. The sight which met our eyes as we rounded the rock quarry hill outside of Albert was wonderful beyond description. I remember how tremendously it impressed my pal, Macfarlane. He sat by the roadside and looked round over the landscape as if he were fascinated.

"Boy," said he, "we're at the big show at last."

Poor fellow! It was not only the big show, but the last performance for him. Within sight of the spot where he sat wondering he later fell in action and died. The scene which so impressed him gave us all a feeling of great awe. Great shells from a thousand guns were streaking and crisscrossing the sky. Without glasses I counted thirty-nine of our observation balloons. Away off in the distance I saw one German captive balloon. The other aircraft were uncountable. They were everywhere, apparently in hundreds. There could have been no more wonderful panorama picture of war in its new aspect.

"Boy," said he, "we're at the big show at last."

Our battalion was in and out of the town of Albert several days waiting for orders. The battle of Courcellette was then in progress, and the First, Second and Third Canadian divisions were holding front positions at terrible cost. In the first part of October, 1916, we "went in" opposite the famous Regina trench. The battleground was just miles and miles of debris and shell holes. Before we went to our position the officers and non-coms were taken in by scouts to get the lay of the land. These trips were called "Cook's tours." One of them I went through the town of Poziers twice and didn't know it. It had a population of 12,000 before the war. On the spot where it had stood not even a whole brick was left, it seemed. Its demolition was complete. That was an example of the condition of the whole country over which our forces had blasted their way for ten miles since the previous July. There were not even landmarks left.

The "Cook's Tour."

On the night when we went in to inspect the positions we were to hold, our scouts, leading us through the flat desert of destruction, got completely turned round and took us back through a trench composed of shell holes connected up until we ran into a battalion of another brigade. The place was dreadful beyond words. The stench of the dead was sickening. In many places arms and legs of dead men stuck out of the trench walls.

We made a fresh start after our blunder, moving in single file and keeping in touch each with the man ahead of him. We stumbled along in the darkness through this awful labyrinth until we ran into some of our own scouts at 2 a. m. and found that we were halfway across No Man's land, several hundred yards beyond our front line and likely to be utterly wiped out in twenty seconds should the Germans sight us. Fine guides we had on this "Cook's tour." At last we reached our proper position, and fifteen minutes after we got there a whiz-bang, a low explosive murderer, buried me completely. They had to dig me out. A few minutes later a high explosive shell fell in a trench section where three of our men were stationed. All we could find after it exploded were one arm and one leg, which we buried. The trenches were without trench mats, and the mud was from six inches to three feet deep all through them. There were no dugouts, only merely miserable "funk holes," dug where it was possible to dig them without uncovering dead men. We remained in this position four days, from the 17th to the 21st of October, 1916.

There were reasons, of course, for the difference between conditions in Belgium and on the Somme. On the Somme we were constantly preparing for a new advance, and we were only temporarily established on ground which we had but recently taken after long drumming with big guns. The trenches were merely shell holes connected by ditches. Our old and ubiquitous and variously useful friend, the sandbag, was not present in any capacity, and therefore we had no parapets or dugouts. The communication trenches were all blown in, and everything had to come to us overland, with the result that we never were quite sure when we would get ammunition, rations or relief forces. The most awful thing was that the soil all about us was filled with freshly buried men. If we undertook to cut a trench or enlarge a funk hole our spades struck into human flesh and the explosion of a big shell along our line sent decomposed and dismembered and sickening mementos of an earlier fight showering among us. We lived in the muck and stench of "glorious" war, those of us who lived.

The German Dugout—and What They Found.

Here and there along this line were the abandoned dugouts of the Germans, and we made what use of them we could, but that was little. I had orders one day to locate a dugout and prepare it for use as battalion headquarters. When I led a squad in to clean it up the odor was so overpowering that we had to put on our gas masks. On entering we first saw two dead nurses with our ghastly flashlights, one standing with her arm around a post, just as she had stood when gas or concussion killed her. Seated at a table in the middle of the place was the body of an old general of the German medical corps, his head fallen between his hands. The task of cleaning up was too dreadful for us. We just tossed in four or five fumite bombs and beat it out of there. A few hours later we went into the seared and empty cavern, made the roof safe with new timbers and notified battalion headquarters that the place could be occupied.

During this time I witnessed a scene which, with some others, I shall never forget. An old chaplain of the Canadian forces came to our trench section seeking the grave of his son, which had been marked for him on a rude map by an officer who had seen the young man's burial. We managed to find the spot, and at the old chaplain's request we exhumed the body. Some of us suggested to him that he give us the identification marks and retire out of range of the shells which were bursting all around us. We argued that it was unwise for him to remain in danger, but what we really intended was that he should be saved the horror of seeing the pitiful thing which our spades were about to uncover.

"I shall remain," was all he said. "He was my boy."

It proved that we had found the right body. One of our men tried to clear the features with his handkerchief, but ended by spreading the handkerchief over the face. The old chaplain stood beside the body and removed his trench helmet, baring his gray head to a drizzle of rain that was falling. Then while we stood by silently his voice rose amid the noise of bursting shells, repeating the burial service of the Church of England. I have never been so impressed by anything in my life as by that scene.

The dead man was a young captain. He had been married to a lady of Baltimore just before the outbreak of the war.

The philosophy of the British Tommies and the Canadians and the Aus-trallans on the Somme was a remarkable reflection of their fine courage through all that hell. They went about their work paying no attention to the flying death about them.

"If Fritz has a shell with your name and number on it," said a British Tommy to me one day. "You're going to get it, whether you're in the front line or seven miles back; if he hasn't, you're all right."

Fine fighters all. And the Scotch kilties, lovingly called by the Germans "the women from hell," have the respect of all armies. We saw little of the poilus, except a few on leave. All the men are self sacrificing to one another in that big melting pot from which so few ever emerge whole. The only things it is legitimate to steal in the code of the trenches are rum and "fags" (cigarettes). Every other possession is as safe as if it were a patent lock.

The fifth article of this remarkable personal narrative will appear soon. It is entitled:

No. 5.—Wounded in Action.

This article describes the terrible fight the dead and dying, the loss of a pal and the final falling of McClintock in No Man's Land. Simply told, it is one of the most remarkable descriptions of a battle by a participant ever put together.

SHARP STABBING PAINS

Often Tell of Weak Kidneys—A Paris Resident Shows You What To Do.

The sharp twinge of pain in the small of the back that strikes you after any sudden twist or awkward motion, may tell of weak kidneys. And there are often disturbances of the urine—too frequent urination, scalding or burning pain during passage, discolored urine and sediment.

Doan's Kidney Pills are prepared especially for weakened kidneys, kidney backache and urinary disorders—have proven their merit in thousands of cases. Doan's are endorsed throughout the civilized world—are recommended by Paris residents.

Chas. Stewart, tinsmith, Lillieson avenue, Paris, says: "I had three or four attacks of lumbago in the past few years, the first being the worst. My back was a dull, constant ache all the time and often sharp, cutting pains darted through it. Sometimes I thought I could hardly endure the misery. Doctors' medicine was of no avail and somehow I got hold of Doan's Kidney Pills, procuring them from the Ardery Drug Co. The first box helped me and I continued taking them until cured of the attacks. Return spells since then have always been slight, and Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to relieve me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Stewart had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. (adv)

DEATHS.

DRENNAN.

—Mr. James P. Drennan, aged seventy, formerly of Flemingsburg, died last week in the Confederate Home at Pewee Valley, where he had been several years. The body was taken to Flemingsburg for interment.

LYONS.

—Mr. George Lyons, an uncle of Mr. Harry Lyons, died at his home in Indianapolis, Ind., last week, following an illness extending over several years. Mr. Lyons was a bachelor.

The news of his death came in the shape of a telegram to his sister-in-law, Mrs. Maria Lyons. The funeral was held in Indianapolis.

SCHULTZ.

—Mr. Richard Woolfolk Schultz, widely known among horsemen in this vicinity as "Dick" Schultz, died suddenly at his home near Lyndon, Ky., last week of heart trouble. Mr. Schultz for several years conducted the column headed "Listen" in the Farmers' Home Journal. He had been indisposed for several weeks, but his condition was not regarded as serious, and it was only a few days prior to his death that he was placed under the care of a physician.

Mr. Schultz for a number of years had charge of the horses at the Powhatan Farm, near Louisville. He later conducted a riding academy in one of the fashionable Louisville suburbs and built a handsome structure for that purpose. It burned down shortly after its completion. Mr. Schultz then purchased a farm near Lyndon, where he was engaged in breeding fine saddle horses and where he also conducted a riding school. Among the horses owned by Mr. Schultz at the time of his death was the famous sire and show horse, Guided By Love.

Mr. Schultz was well known by Paris and Bourbon county horsemen. He has visited Paris several times as the guest of local horse fanciers, who valued his judgment of horseflesh.

RELIGIOUS.

Fennell is being assisted by the pastor of the church, Rev. M. W. Bottom. The revival is being well attended by Bourbon county people.

YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN.

Cincinnati Authority Tells How to Dry Up a Corn or Callous So It Lifts Off With Fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear shoes that nearly killed you before, says Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of Freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callous, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callous loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of Freezone cost very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callous. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any Freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time. (adv)

LOOKING FOR PLATINUM.

A special survey to estimate existing platinum fields and locate new ones is being made by the Bureau of Mines. It seems that the United States produces only 10 per cent. of its own platinum requirement. Platinum is a war necessity of the first importance, owing to its use in the chemical branches of the munitions industry. It is felt that the United States should produce all its own platinum, as there are undoubtedly sufficient ore deposits, needing only to be properly exploited. The Bureau of Mines has detailed three men to the investigation, in California, Oregon and the Appalachian region. At present most of the world's platinum supply comes from Russia.

If a man is unable to account for his failure in life he can always depend on his disinterested neighbors to enlighten him.
